

Energy and Climate Partnership of the Americas

ACTION PLAN

2022 — 2024

Description

The Action Plan is a tool intended to drive cooperation and partnerships for the advancement of clean energy transitions in the Americas. It comprises a living catalogue of projects, activities, and areas of interest identified by the countries, housed at the ECPA Secretariat, and available for review by members.

Participating members can use the Action Plan to seek out partners, contribute technical resources, or leverage synergies to accomplish likeminded goals. The ECPA Secretariat, at the behest of the members who request it, brokers arrangements that further energy and climate action between and amongst members.

Likewise, the private sector can partner with the ECPA Secretariat to leverage the Action Plan to accelerate clean energy transitions in the Western Hemisphere.

Goal

Foster shared energy leadership, cooperation and integration across the Americas to achieve net-zero emissions by 2050.

Objectives

Identify top national energy priorities, areas of expertise, and potential synergies in the Western Hemisphere in order to:

- Enable cooperation at multiple levels (e.g. bilateral, multilateral)
- Document an actionable catalogue of projects and actions ripe for execution
- Highlight new projects or initiatives with high-impact measurable results at the regional or global level

Deliverables

The ECPA Secretariat will:

- House a living matchmaking platform through which governments can work together, build synergies, collaborate on common interests, and establish new partnerships or strengthen existing ones. Governments are encouraged to share their ideas through the ECPA Secretariat.
- Identify flagship projects or initiatives with potential to accelerate net-zero energy transitions at the regional and/or sub-regional level if funded.
- Implement concrete actions in response to the mandates of the ECPA Ministerial and Summit of the Americas processes.
